NOVEMBER EVENTS 2015

- The ninth annual Central City Festival will take over Oretha Castle Haley Boulevard on Saturday, November 7 to celebrate the culture of New Orleans' Central City neighborhood.
 - http://www2.dmpemail1.com/neworleanscvb/main/index.php?action=t&tag=Central+City+Festival&id=1287&viewers_email=info%40teachmetours.com&dest=http%3A%2F%2Fwww.ochaleyblvd.org%2Fhome
 - Festivalgoers can enjoy the sounds of New Orleans music, ranging from bounce to gospel and traditional second lines. The festival will also feature local food trucks and food vendors, a cooking demonstration, arts and crafts vendors and more.
 - Central City's Oretha Castle Haley Boulevard has experienced a boom in recent years, with new restaurants, venues and museums opening along the avenue in rapid succession. Acclaimed newcomers like the Southern Food and Beverage Museum and the People's Health New Orleans Jazz Market have both helped to ignite a renaissance along one of New Orleans' historic avenues.
- The Tremé Creole Gumbo Festival will return to historic Tremé neighborhood November 14-15, 2015 and will feature a smorgasbord of New Orleans' signature dish for festivalgoers to taste.
 <a href="http://www2.dmpemail1.com/neworleanscvb/main/index.php?action=t&tag=Trem%26eacute%3B+Creole+Gumbo+Festival&id=1287&viewers_email="http://www2.dmpemail1.com/neworleanscvb/main/index.php?action=t&tag=Trem%26eacute%3B+Creole+Gumbo+Festival&id=1287&viewers_email= info%40teachmetours.com&dest=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.jazzandheritage.org%2Ftreme-gumbo

- This free local favorite festival features performances by local musicians, including jazz and R&B artists.
- Don't miss the festival's annual Vegan Gumbo Contest, which offers vegans and vegetarians a chance to get in on the gumbo fun.
- Oak Street Poboy Festival will take over Oak Street in New Orleans' Riverbend neighborhood on November 22, 2015 and will feature both traditional and inspired versions of the poboy as well as live music at three stages
 - $\underline{\text{http://www2.dmpemail1.com/neworleanscvb/main/index.php?action=t\&tag=Oak+Street+Poboy+Festival\&id=1287\&viewers_email=info%40teachmet}\\ \underline{\text{ours.com\&dest=http}\%3A\%2F\%2Fwww.poboyfest.com\%2F}\\ \underline{\text{ours.com}\&dest=http}\%3A\%2F\%2Fwww.poboyfest.com\%2F}\\ \underline{\text{ours.com}\&dest=http}\%3A\%2F\%2Fwww.poboyfest.com\%$
 - Attendees can even vote for their favorite poboys in various categories, such as "Best Oyster" or "Best Specialty Seafood."
- Formerly New Orleans Fringe Festival, faux/real New Orleans celebrates the creative work of artists in theater, literature, food and drink November 4-22, 2015.
 - $\underline{\text{http://www2.dmpemail1.com/neworleanscvb/main/index.php?action=t\&tag=real+New+Orleans\&id=1287\&viewers_email=info%40teachmetours.com}\\ \underline{\text{\&dest=http}\%3A\%2F\%2Ffauxrealnola.com\%2F}$
 - Participants can attend performances, readings, tastings and parties across the city during the festival's three-week reign.
 - New Orleans has long been home to a fringe scene and is recognized for its offbeat culture, most recently being named the number one "Quirkiest City in America" by Travel + Leisure in March 2015.

This list is comprised by the New Orleans Convention and Visitor's Bureau www.neworleanscvb.com